

Fatal retaining wall failure in Austria

Written by Randy Post

Thursday, 12 April 2012 00:21 -

A retaining wall failed along the A13 autobahn in Schonberg, Austria. Few details are available at this point, but the wall did fall onto a passing truck, killing the driver. Snowmelt was likely a factor in the failure. Rocks and debris continued to fall on the roadway while rescue and cleanup efforts were underway. Source: [The Landslide Blog . Image: oe24.at]